Undecided On Ickes Successor

Truman Deliberates
Over Half a Dozen
Possible Appointees;
Talk of O'Mahoney

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—(P)—President Truman was reported today deliberating over a half dozen possible appointees for secretary of interior, with Senator Joseph C. O'Mahoney (D-Wyo.) strongly backed by capitol hill friends.

Mutual friends of the President and O'Mahoney said the Wyoming Senator's name was very high on the list, but added that Mr. Truman seemed undecided whether O'Mahoney would be of more service to the administration in the Cabinet or the Senate.

White House Secretary Charles G. Ross told reporters today that President Truman will name a successor to Ickes "fairly soon." He described the President as "open-minded" in his search.

Governor in Picture

Should O'Mahoney be chosen for the post, the expectation here is that Wyoming's Governor Lester C. Hunt would either succeed him immediately or become a candidate for the senatorial nomination at stake in the state this year. Hunt was one of two democrats to unseat republican gubernatorial incumbents in the 1942 elections.

But if the President turns away from the senate to fill the job that Harold L. Ickes resigned so expensively, one presidential adviser said it is possible that Justice William O. Douglas might be asked to leave the Supreme Court to take over.

All sorts of switches in his official family were reported to have been suggested to the President, who saw several senators and house members about the matter yesterday.

A Possible Switch

Those in a position to know said there had been discussion of a possible switch of Secretary of Labor Lewis Schwellenbach to the Interior spot, but they represented Mr. Truman as indicating that it would be a difficult problem for him to fill the labor post.

Also discussed, legislators said, was the possibility that if Douglas were named, Schwellenbach might be chosen for the resulting court vacancy.

Another cabinet change said to have been talked about at the White House involved transfer of Secretary of Agriculture Clinton M. Anderson to Interior, with a middle westerner named to succeed the former New Mexico representative.

Still Need Men For the Army

KANSAS CITY, Feb. 15.—(P)—If the army continues to demobilize at the present rate, "we will destroy the strength we have and give up a chance for permanent peace," Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower declared here yesterday.

The chief of staff, stopping here on the first leg of a two-week inspection trip, said in an impromptu speech before members of the Order of World Wars, "the army sent the six millionth man home last Tuesday. No such speed of demobilization ever has been known in any country."

"No one can say what will be the shape and sized of the future armed forces, but we will need several hundred thousand men for many years to carry out the occupation of Japan and Germany," the general stated.

FDR Exclaimed 'This Means War'

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(P)—A young naval officer testified today that the night before Pearl Harbor he handed President Roosevelt information which prompted the President to exclaim "this means war."

The statement came from Cmdr L. R. Schulz, who told the Senate House committee investigating the December 7, 1941 disaster that he was at the time on duty in the White House.

Schulz said Harry Hopkins was with the President at the time and Hopkins remarked that since war appeared imminent it was "too bad we couldn't strike the first blow and prevent surprise."

Roosevelt replied, Schulz said, "No, we cannot do that. We are a democracy and a peaceful people."

Schulz said there was no mention of Pearl Harbor. He said the "only geographical name I recall being mentioned was Indo-China" and that there was "no indication that tomorrow was necessarily the day."

Ickes Busy Cleaning Up Accumulation Of Thirteen Years

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(P)—The cabinet met with the President in regular Friday session today, but its senior member—Secretary of the Interior Harold L. Ickes—was not among those present.

Apparently Ickes, who said Wednesday that he had been "graciously allowed less than three days to clean up the accumulation of 13 years in the department," was busy with that task.

His explosive resignation from the cabinet suggested that he go out March 31. Mr. Truman accepted it as of the close of business today.

New OPA Boss From Kentucky

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(P)—A big, genial guy from Kentucky took over OPA today and found himself greeted with encouraging tidings from Capitol Hill.

The new boss is towering six-foot-four Paul Porter, whom President Truman drafted temporarily from his job of chairman of the Federal Communications Commission to head the constantly sniped at and much attacked office of price administration.

The good news awaiting him is that OPA has just won its first House victory of 1946—an achievement interpreted as heralding an ultimate vote to continue OPA beyond the June 30 limit fixed by existing law.

The victory was an important test of strength, for it involved a strong republican drive to refuse OPA an additional $1,854,000 this fiscal year, largely to finance an enforcement blitz on black markets. The GOP drive failed and the House voted the funds late yesterday.

Trend Toward More Milk

COLUMBIA, Mo., Feb. 15.—(P)—M. J. Regan, University of Missouri college of agriculture dairy expert, said today he did not believe milk production in Missouri would be greatly reduced as a result of a recent food order restricting the feeding of wheat bran to dairy herds.

"Since wheat bran, as well as some of the outer coats of grains are especially rich in phosphates—important in milk production—some people might think there would be a reduction in the production of milk," he said.

He said, however, that increased sizes of dairy herds and other factors would offset the tendency towards a reduction.

"St. Louisans are only getting three-fourths the milk they need at present and Kansas Citians could use from 15 to 20 per cent more milk than they're now receiving," he said, however.

"But the trend is toward greater production, with bigger dairy herds, despite some limiting factors," he concluded.

Assert Braden Headed Spies In Argentine

During Time he Was Ambassador
To That Country

By John Wallace
BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 15.—(P)—Presidential candidate Juan D. Peron accused Spruille Braden, assistant U. S. secretary of state, last night of having headed a "vast spy network" while he served as U. S. ambassador to Argentina and of blackmailing Argentine merchants into contributing funds to support his "subversive work."

At the same time, Peron and foreign minister Juan I. Cooke issued flat denials that Peron or the Argentine government had dealt with the Nazis, as charged in a blue book issued by the U. S. state department.

Cooke said in a radio address that the release of the blue book gave rise to the suspicion that the United States hopes to influence the Feb. 24 presidential elections.

Peron, former vice president in the government of President Edelmiro Farrell, also declared that Brig. Gen. John Lang, former military attaché at the U. S. embassy, was expelled from Argentina "for proven espionage against Argentina and other friendly countries."

No Comment

(The U. S. state department said last night it had no immediate comment to make on Peron's statement. Lang could not be reached for a statement.)

In a statement in the newspaper La Epoca, which is supporting his presidential aspirations, Peron said that Lang "was not able to defend himself against the accusations, which were completely proven."

"He (Lang) did not even try to," Peron said. "He left Argentina with his tail between his legs and his chief, Braden, was not able to justify him with certainty. . . ."

"I could tell how Braden fanned his political campaigns inside the country with money obtained by extortion from Argentine merchants. The blacklist served for this."

"We can say to Mr. Braden that he had been here in Argentina as chief of a vast spy network, not limited to Argentina but in all South America."

Further Charges

Peron said that Braden used money obtained from merchants to "do his subversive work free and appear as a generous paymaster before his servants."

Peron also charged that his political opponents in the forthcoming election were planning an outbreak of violence, which would be blamed on him.

"In this event," he added, "our program would win within 48 hours by revolution."

Cooke, assertedly speaking for President Farrell as well as himself, said Argentina had been unable to obtain an official copy of the blue book, and declared the manner in which the United States charges had been made were in violation of diplomatic procedure.

The issuing of the blue book only 12 days before the election, he said, might be construed as intervention and was "unworthy of a great American nation."

St. Joseph Lawyer Killed on Highway

FAUCETT, Mo., Feb. 15.—(P)—Joseph A. Sherman, of St. Joseph, Buchanan county prosecuting attorney, was killed last night as his car left a highway south of here and went into a deep ditch. The accident was not discovered until this morning.

Sherman, serving his second term as prosecuting attorney, was a candidate for circuit judge on the democratic ticket this year.

Motorist's Car Drags, Finds He's Carrying Truck Tire

It isn't every day, in this age of the tire dearth, that a person driving down the street feels a "drag" on his automobile and coming to a halt, discovers the impediment to be a spare truck tire, 7.20x20 of Firestone make, complete with wheel, which in some unexplainable manner has become lodged under the front of his car so securely that it takes attendants at a service station a half hour to extract it.

But just such a freak experience occurred to Charles Johnson, 516 East Twelfth street, Thursday night about 7 o'clock. Johnson does not know just how or when it happened. After cautious maneuvering on the slick, crowded pavement of Main street, he became aware of a peculiar, dragging feeling. Stop-

Envoy to Russia

President Truman turned today to his favorite school of diplomacy—the military—to fill one of the country's toughest foreign posts. He named Gen. Walter Bedell Smith (above) as ambassador to Russia. 'Lizzie' Grant Heroine of Tomato Fight

Girl Teams Mow
Each Other Down
In Annual Event

DANIA, Fla., Feb. 15.—(P)—The heroine of the South Florida farm country today is a shy but fiery lass who took it and dished it out in Danila's 16th annual tomato festival fight.

She's 17-year-old Elizabeth Grant—"they call me Lizzie but I hate it."

She was the star of the 16th annual tomato fight, where girl teams try to mow each other down with the ripe fruit for which this section is famed.

Armed with 2,000 aged tomatoes as ammunition, two eight-girl teams were reluctant to retire from the field when the final whistle blew. The fruit continued to fly.

The last to leave after a beautifully thrown outside curve into the face of a curvaceous blonde opponent was Battling Betty.

Vision Blurred

The judges, acknowledging that their vision had been blurred and still wiping tomato seeds out of their eyes, called it a draw.

But the thousands of spectators, who had howled with glee as they watched Betty, like old Horatius at the bridge, drive the other team back time and again with accurate heaves, howled louder for her at the end.

A two-inch blob of tomato skin clung to her nose. Red juice streamed down her sun-tanned cheeks. One eye bore the imprint of a perfect bulls-eye hit and enough tomato seeds to plant an acre adorned her hair. She was more defiant than ever.

"When you get smacked in the face with half-a-dozen tomatoes all of a sudden, you kind of get mad," the uncrowned champ said. "I decided to forget beauty and get out there and pitched."

The annual event was suspended in 1942 because of the war. Betty fired 125 shots in the resumption of the event.

—Joan Fontaine was back in bed today, a victim of recurring influenza.

The Oscar-winning actress was under treatment for three weeks in New York recently. Her studio said the relapse would force postponement of a trip to Cuba, scheduled to start next week.

Tire Reported Missing

Some light was shed on the subject this morning, however, when Douglas Davis, 1701 South Stewart avenue, reported to the police department the loss of such attachments from his 1940 Chevrolet truck, stating that the carrier holding the tire and wheel had jarred loose.

Informed that the sizeable "Lost and Found" article reposed rather imposingly in the business office of The Sedalia Democrat-Capital, two policemen made a call, scratched their heads wonderingly at the tale of the peculiar rescue, and rolled the tire across the street to their squad car.

Bowles Chosen to Hold Higher Wage-Price Lines; Steel Strike Settlement Is Now Possible

'Blue Book' so Named Just Because the Cover was Blue

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(P)—State department officials conceded that newsmen may have added another expression to the diplomatic dictionary when they dubbed the document linking Argentine leaders with Nazi Germany a "blue book."

For it was the reporters and not department officials who came up with that title. The reason: the book has covers of blue. A slightly-darker-than-robin's-egg type of blue.

Veteran diplomats said they knew of no previous "blue book" in this or any other country's diplomatic history. They did recall that the French issued a "yellow book" after the start of war in 1939, explaining France's case against Germany.

Furthermore, these diplomats expressed belief that the term "white paper" originated in Britain exactly like "blue book" was born in Washington—through newspaper usage.

Britain Uses White Paper

Britain now uses "white paper" as an official name for a certain type of document explaining its point of view on an international issue.

State department officials were not overjoyed at the newsmen's creation. They already are weary of explaining—in response to questions—that the "blue book" title just happened; that they know of no definite difference between a "blue book" and a "white paper."

They were full of information about the making of the "blue book"—how it took five months to compile from an entire roomful of captured German papers; how intelligence officers, translators, technicians and diplomats worked around the clock to complete it.

But no one seemed to know why the "blue book" was blue.

AFL Calls New Policy a Step Backward

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(P)—The A. F. L. today described President Truman's new wage-price policy as "unsatisfactory, unacceptable and a backward step."

American Federation of Labor President William Green so referred to the policy in a formal statement which also said of the plan:

"It will only serve to increase confusion and multiply the nation's troubles. We fear it will also create widespread social, industrial and economic discontent and upheavals."

"It establishes wage fixing by government and strikes a body blow at free collective bargaining. 'No employer will be willing to bargain collectively with a labor union under the restrictions imposed by the new policy.'

"We realize that the government faced a serious difficulty in seeking to promote full production while wage and price disputes disrupted reconversion."

"But the new policy is no solution."

C. I. O. President Philip Murray made no immediate comment on the general policy.

Admit They Strangled Three Yanks

SHANGHAI, Feb. 15.—(P)—Three Japanese said in signed confessions read today at their war crimes trial three American fliers were strangled, and admitted they drew tight the cords with which it was done.

All three pleaded they acted under orders. They said the fliers were cremated after being strangled. Previous witnesses had testified they were put into the furnaces while still alive.

Warrant Officer Tsutomu Funi, in a grim recital of what happened just before midnight Dec. 16, 1944 in the yard of the Hankow crematorium, said the Americans were so weary and beaten that they couldn't stand following a humiliating parade through the Hankow streets.

Strangled

Funi said "the fliers were laid down and the cords with which their hands were tied were coiled around their necks. I then assisted in the case of one prisoner by pulling one end of the cord. When it was confirmed that his respiration had ceased I released the cord."

The other two Americans were strangled in a like manner at almost the same time. Then the corpses were put into the furnace.

Chinese previously testified the fliers—2nd Lt. Lester R. White, Slickville, Pa., and Sgts. Henry Wheaton, Milwaukee and James E. Forbes, Jr., East Hartford, Conn.—were not dead when cremated.

Frankenstein said he had no definite plans for the future, but indicated he had received offers from several private firms.

Earthquake Rocks Section Of Northwest

Frightened
People Rush From Seattle Buildings

SEATTLE, Feb. 15.—(P)—An earthquake, so intense it caused many persons to believe an atom bomb plant had exploded, shook the area from Northern Oregon to Canada last night. It caused some property damage.

Only a few minor injuries were reported as ground tremors were felt over a 120,000 square mile area at 7:18:30 p. m., Pacific standard time. Felt for about a minute in downtown Seattle, the quake continued to record on the University of Washington seismograph for 20 minutes.

Geology Professor G. E. Goodspeed said the needle jumped from its drum and he termed it the worst quake ever recorded here, although of "moderate intensity."

Many persons called newspaper offices to inquire, "Did the Hanford atom bomb plant explode?"

A packing plant wall, two stories high and 170 feet long, crumpled and crushed an unoccupied shop. A 150,000 gallon water tank atop a flouring mill also fell and sent water rushing down stair wells.

Landed on Horse

Thirteen-year-old Laverne Lee was perched on a shed at his home north of Seattle setting up a radio antenna when the tremor shook him until he became so dizzy he tumbled off and landed on top of a horse.

"He started to run with me on him," the boy recounted.

H. W. Locke, a suburban justice of the peace, was officiating at a wedding when the quake started.

"The bride grew pale and tears started to roll down her cheeks as the building shook," said Justice Locke.

"I said, 'Keep calm, keep calm, there is nothing to worry about.' We finished the ceremony."

Sheriff's Deputy Walter Callahan, a King county jailer, said there was no panic in the jail on the tenth floor of the county-city building, but "in the women's ward the girls were gathered at the door repeating the Lord's Prayer."

Lake Bubbled

The surface of Seattle's Lake Union "bubbled and boiled," immediately after the tremor. Persons living aboard small craft in the lake said the effect was as though a heavy object had slammed against the hulls.

Professor Goodspeed said he believed the quake centered near Olympic, the state capital. There, a cornice 75 feet long dropped from the six-story roof of the Hotel Olympian with a resounding crash. Cracks appeared in at least one building of the state group.

Reports of the quake came from Salem, Ore., on the south, to Vancouver, B. C., on the north. It was noted as far inland as Spokane, in Eastern Washington.

Paul A. Porter, Staunch Hold-Line Man Follows Bowles As Head of OPA

By Sterling F. Green

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15.—(P)—Official Washington confidently expected a steel strike settlement today as a swift follow-up to President Truman's higher wage-price line and his choice of Chester Bowles to hold it.

Providing price increase for industry to cover government approved wage hikes, the new reconversion formula, a White House spokesman said, supplies the basis for ending the walkout of 750,000 CIO-United Steelworkers—largest single strike in American history. Other high officials said approval of a steel price boost of approximately $5 a ton would be a factor in the settlement.

Aides said that when Mr. Truman turned loose the long awaited policy change late last night, he also had counted on making a simultaneous announcement that the steel strike was over. However, he was disappointed by U. S. Steel and CIO negotiators who were reported close to agreement in a late session but still short of bridging the final gap.

Broad Changes

The president said the new policy was designed to cope with a reconversion situation in which "vital needed production is lagging and collective bargaining has broken down" in many key industries.

It calls for these broad changes in the nation's approach to the wage-price question:

1. Wage increases must be approved by the national wage stabilization board. And this board must see that they do not exceed the pattern of pay boosts in an industry or area since V-J day—about 16 to 18 per cent.

2. Higher price ceilings will be granted manufacturers immediately—instead of after 6 months—to insure profitable operation after an approved wage increase is granted.

Up to Bowles

3. OPA administrator Bowles becomes director of the re-created office of economic stabilization and is charged with laying down the specific rules for the new policy.

4. Paul A. Porter, chairman of the federal communications commission and a staunch hold-the-line man, steps into Bowles' OPA shoes.

5. The wartime OES is revived to replace the office of stabilization administration previously headed by John C. Collet. As its boss, Bowles has wider authority than Collet but still is in the office—and under the supervision—of reconversion director John W. Snyder, with whom he tangled on pricing policy. Collet plans to return to his Missouri federal judgeship.

'Hold the Line'

To cap this denouement of a month-long drama of conflict among subordinates, the president appealed for firm holding of the new and higher line to avoid "the misery and danger of inflation."

"I call upon both management and labor to proceed with production," Mr. Truman said in a statement.

"Production is our salvation. Production is the basis of high wages and profits and high standards of living for us all. Production will do away with the necessity for government controls."

In his statement the chief executive referred both to the crippling effect of strikes and the dangers of inflation, declaring:

"Work stoppages have continued and some of them are serious enough to threaten our economy with almost complete paralysis."

"They are accompanied by inflationary pressures that also threaten the stability of our economy."

Big Raid in St. Louis

ST. LOUIS, Feb. 15.—(AP)—City detectives seized more than 50,000 lottery tickets yesterday in what they called one of the biggest gambling raids here in recent years.

The lottery was based on daily figures of the national treasury balance and its operations were estimated by the police gambling squad to involve approximately $250,000 annually. A quantity of printing and perforating equipment also was seized.

Reuben Grimsky, 43, was arrested by detectives Robert O'Neil and Albert Letz, who said he was making the rounds of 60 or 70 agencies which sold the lottery tickets. They said they found 5,000 of the tickets in Grimsky's car.

Later, Edward Deal, owner of a printing concern, was arrested at his place of business where the lottery machinery was seized. Grimsky was booked on a charge of establishing a lottery and Deal on a charge of assisting in a lottery.

Police said the lottery had been in operation for at least three years.

"The pope thanked the people of the United States and the archdiocese of New York for all they had done," Spellman said. "I remarked to His Holiness that all we could do was inadequate to meet the need. Admitting that, the pope nevertheless stressed how important it had been to the unfortunate of Europe, especially the children."

Spellman is a friend of long standing of the pontiff. He commented "the pope's color is better" than when they last met. Three more cardinals-designate arrived in Vatican City today, bringing to 29 the number already here for the consistory which opens Monday.

Those reaching Vatican City were Archbishop Josef Frings of Cologne; Archbishop Pierre Petit de Jullieuville of Rouen, France; and Bishop Clemens August von Galen of Munster, Germany.

Archbishop Josef Mindszenty, primate of Hungary, is expected today or tomorrow.

Boys Leave With $40,000
CHAMPAIGN, Ill., Feb. 15.—(AP)—Two 15-year-old Chicago high school boys were on their way back to Chicago today, after leaving home with nearly $40,000, because the father of one of them said, his son had "a burning ambition to be a newspaper man."

The boys, Neil Ruzic and Howard Erdman, were stopped in a Champaign bus station last night while carrying the money in a suitcase and were held without charge.

Dr. Joseph Ruzic, dentist, arrived here this morning and took charge of both boys and the money which police said totaled $39,694.24. He said no charges would be placed.

Ruzic said the boys took the money from a piano in his home and that "it represented his savings from 20 years of dental practice."

He said that his son, a press service part-time copy boy and sports editor of the St. Rita High school paper, "wanted to be a newspaper reporter so badly he took it upon himself to leave home with the money."

He added that he kept the money in the piano "because I thought it was safer at home than in a bank."

Youth Admits Robberies In Sedalia

Picked up by Highway Patrol in Jefferson City

James Tucker, 16, of Kansas City, Kas., arrested at 11:45 o'clock Thursday morning by Capt. K. O. Duncan of the state highway patrol and Jefferson City police, has admitted three recent Sedalia robberies and examination is being made of merchandise and various articles believed secured here found in the stolen 1941 Packard sedan he was driving which belongs to J. V. Wilcox of Kansas City, president of the Wilcox Electric company.

The Sedalia robberies, which occurred early Thursday morning, include the following:

Eight cartons of cigarettes, one and one-half cartons of candy, half a box of cigars, ten or 12 sacks of peanuts and a show case 12-24-10 were stolen from the filling station at Broadway and Crescent Drive, it was reported by the manager, Grant S. Allen, 203 East Jackson.

Pennies From Garst's
About $2.50 in pennies was taken from Garst's Drive Inn.

Sedalia police at 3:40 a. m. Thursday received a call from the telephone office, the operator stating she noticed flashes on the switchboard which indicated something wrong at the Brown Filling station, west of Sedalia, on highway 50 at Gasoline Alley.

Radio messages were sent to both patrol cars. Upon arrival, the police found no one around. Investigation revealed the phone had been jerked from its mounting and carried away. There was evidence of a search, probably for money, but nothing but the phone was missing.

Snow tracks which revealed tire markings similar to the tread on the stolen Kansas City automobile led police to believe that the automobile thief and the person who broke into the Sedalia business places were synonymous.

Arrested In Jefferson City

Tucker was apprehended at Jefferson City when two young hitch-hikers whom he had picked up became suspicious of the contents of his car and tipped off authorities.

Arrested January 26 near his home at 1610 South Twentieth street, Kansas City, Kas., Tucker, who had participated in numerous automobile thefts, house and other burglaries, made an escape from the grand jury room of the postoffice building in Kansas City, Kas., before his arrival in Sedalia, while awaiting sentence before the federal court on a Dyer act violation. Windows were not barred and the door was held by an ordinary lock. He was without hat or topcoat when he fled.

Sedalia Churches Invite You For Sunday Worship

"Have We Not All One Father? Hath Not One God Created Us?"

Sunday School Lesson

True to a Great Heritage
Scripture: Deuteronomy 1-4: especially 4:1, 32-40.

By William E. Gilroy, D. D.
"Ask now of the days that are past," says our lesson; not that the people should live in the past, but that out of its heritage of God's providence and God's guidance they might find strength, guidance and inspiration for present living.

That heritage for the Jewish people, then in the wilderness, was rich in inspiration, if it was marked also by periods of tragedy and suffering. The people might take heart from Abraham's faith, and the courage that sustained him in his own long journey from Ur to Canaan; though tragedy fell upon them in Egypt, the memory of Joseph, a leader above reproach might well have sustained and encouraged them in dark and trying days. Even in the wilderness they had a goodly heritage.

But what about ourselves? What value is there in studying the Scriptures and life of an ancient people unless it gives us guidance and wisdom for today? What heritage have we to which we must be true?

The comment in these columns is read by readers on both sides of the border, in Canada and in the United States, but the peoples on both sides of the border have a common heritage that goes back deep into the history of England, "the mother of parliaments," to the signing of Magna Charta, the struggle for civil liberties and the establishing of the principle "no taxation without representation." We have a rich heritage in the common law of England, and in the spirit of democracy.

English-speaking peoples have a mighty heritage of language, enriched from many sources. But our heritage, thank God, is not limited to any one land or people. In the United States, and increasingly in Canada, our common life has been vastly enriched by what those from many lands, and of many races, have brought to us. It is only the ignorant and those of perverted minds and hearts who refuse to recognize the depth and quality of this heritage from the foreign born and their descendants.

Many of the immigrants who have come to our shores have brought with them the skills and cultures that were well developed in their homelands before this America was discovered. Think for instance of our heritage from the Jews, against whom misguided and undemocratic agitators seek to stir up prejudice. From them came the Bible, the Prophets, Christ, and the Apostles. From them came that lofty idealism, which Jesus said He had come, not to destroy, but to fulfill.

Repentance

Sorrow for sin may be of two kinds: one inspired by the fear of God's wrath and the other by compunction over having offended God who is so good, holy and worthy of love. The latter is the truer sorrow because it prompts us, in the name of Christ, to turn from evil and to lead better lives.

Scripture relates how St. Peter after thrice denying Our Lord went forth into the night and wept bitterly. He did not weep merely because he was ashamed of his cowardice and weakness, but because he had betrayed his Master, had hurt terribly His all-loving heart. Peter's repentance was so complete that never again did he fall from grace, and in the end he went joyously to meet a martyr's death.

It is natural to bemoan our selfishness and folly when we have sinned, but the true Christian must elevate his sorrow to a supernatural plane by reflecting that the real hienousness of sin is not so much the ill done to self or neighbor as the affront offered to the dignity, majesty and goodness of God. We know, for our inestimable comfort, that God will eagerly accept our contrition: that He will wash away the sins we confess. But we also know that our tears are worthless unless we firmly resolve to sin no more.

The Christian world will soon usher in the season of Lent. This is a time when we ponder the mystery of Christ's redeeming sacrifice and seek to follow Him more closely by curbing the spirit of selfishness which so often tempts us to sin. Contemplating the meaning of Lent, the repentant sinner will ask only that in the future he may prove himself more worthy of Christ's love.

Intra-Mural Plays Directors

The directors and stage managers of the Smith-Cotton intra-mural plays, which will be held March 14-15, were chosen last week. They were selected on the basis of qualifications by a teachers' committee composed of the play sponsors headed by Miss Edna Snell. Miss Snell is supervisor of the Student Council which sponsors the plays each year.

Party Given for Brownie Troop No. 59

Members of Brownie Troop No. 59 of Sacred Heart school were entertained at a Valentine party by their leaders, Mrs. Lawrence Wolf and Mrs. Norbert White.

Successful As Conductor

Max Steindel, a master of the violinello, who will appear as guest artist with the Sedalia Symphony orchestra in a concert Monday night at the Smith-Cotton high school auditorium, also has achieved signal success as a conductor.

As a conductor of the St. Louis Symphony orchestra, of which he is cello soloist, he has shown sound knowledge of the musical scores, directing with vitality and finesse. He has proven himself a great conductor with the Little Symphony of St. Louis, which he helped organize. A concert series of this musical group is presented in summer seasons.

One of the ranking contemporary cellists, Steindel has long been known to the musical world, for at the age of eight he was a sensation in the leading capitals of Europe.

The guest soloist will be heard in two groups on the program Monday night, which will begin at 8:20 o'clock, with Abe Rosenthal conducting.

Standards On Draftees Lower

Army In A Call
For 125,000 For Month Of April

WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—(P)—
The army Thursday lowered its physical standards for draftees and asked for 125,000 in April.

The regular monthly draft call has been 50,000 but that rate has not been met since V-J day.

The war department said it hopes by this means to get the full 250,000 men the army needs from Selective Service in the first five months of this year. This number is required in addition to enlistments to provide replacements for men discharged.

The army asked draft boards to

Missouri Half Dollars

Will pay if uncirculated:
$17.50 each—with star
$11.00 each—without star
BILL HERT PHONE 2237

induct immediately these 4-Fs—men previously disqualified for physical reasons—who can meet the lowered standards.

About 35,000 men are being accepted each month under present physical standards. This is 15,000 short of requirements.

The army said it is necessary to take men below previous minimum physical standards although it may considerably reduce efficiency and eventually increase the number of discharges for physical disability.

Pass Over Some Defects

The army now will accept men with the following defects who previously were deemed unqualified for military service.

Lateral deviation of the spine from midline of more than an inch and less than two inches; history of thyroidectomy for toxic goiter pressed confidence that, with the

could be met.

They said that about 1,250,000 had been rejected for physical or mental defects. No figures were available immediately, however,

as to how many of these men
could meet new standards.

In Dilemma For Stiff Shirts

By Arthur Edson
WASHINGTON, Feb. 14—(P)—
Another diplomatic crisis has been reached in Washington: the new ambassador to Belgium can't find any stiff shirts.

Vice Admiral Alan G. Kirk,
who leaves for Belgium March 18,
unbosomed himself to a reporter
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15—(P)— Thursday. He says there just aren't any stiff shirts (working clothes for an ambassador) on the market.

Did the admiral have any old stiff shirts that might do?
"Well, yes, I have a couple,"
he replied. "At least, I hope I have a couple. But they've been at the laundry for two or three weeks. Heaven knows who's got them now."

Kirk said he had toured local stores, discreetly flashing state department credentials. No shirts.
He even wrote a large manufacturer. No shirts.

"My wants are meagre," he said. "Only a dozen stiff shirts."
The admiral added that in view of ambassadorial dignity, he didn't think it fitting that his dilemma should be mentioned in the newspapers or on the radio.

"But on the other hand," he mused, "when news gets around,
the darndest things happen."
He was silent for a moment.
"Now if this got in the papers, I might get hundreds of shirts, and I don't want hundreds, just a dozen."

The ambassador-to-be sighed,
and said:
"I wear size 15½ with 34-inch sleeves. But no fancy stuff, mind
you. Just plain bosoms."

Regrets Shooting 'Guardian' Dog

CLAREMORE, Okla., Feb. 15—(P)—Formal apology for the slay-ing of Sunnybrook, Scotch collie
"guardian" of the Will Rogers memorial, was made Thursday.

Lt. E. Trost, young army officer who shot the animal while trying to eliminate stray dogs on military academy grounds, said that he had publicly expressed his regrets.

"I am sorry that it happened and I have apologized to the owners,"
Lt. Trost said.

Bob Love, curator of the Rogers memorial, and his wife, Paula,
a niece of the late Mrs. Will Rogers,
were owners of Sunnybrook,
called "the most photographed dog in the world" because of admiration of many distinguished camera-carrying visitors to the memorial.

The Tulsa World said it had learned that Lt. Trost, who is a regular army officer attached to the Oklahoma Military Academy staff, might ask for a transfer from this area.

NEW YORK, Feb. 15.—(P)—The optimism that Frank Leahy was displaying over Notre Dame's football prospects last weekend must have dropped a few points when he heard that Frank Yoka, the flashy guard from Rock Island, Ill., high school and St. Mary's Pre-Flight, had signed with the pros. . . . Yoka is the kid, who, when asked by Leahy if he thought he'd make good in college football, solemnly replied: "Coach, I'll eat them college kids alive." . . . Leahy still won't have much cause for moaning. If all goes well he can start Johnny Lujack, Phil Colella and Bob Kelly

Nominations Ahead of 1945

LOUISVILLE, Ky., Feb. 15.—(P)—Nominations for the 1946 running of the Kentucky Derby were pouring into Churchill Downs today, with the deadline set for midnight tonight.
Sam McMeekin, Downs secretary, said he thought Derby nominees "might be running slightly ahead of last year" when 155 three-year-old colts, fillies and geldings were nominated for the last wartime turf classic here.
The names of this year's Derby hopefuls will be checked carefully and the list announced in early March.
The added money for this, the seventy-second annual running of the Derby, has been raised from $75,000 to $100,000, making it the richest in history.

Educated in U. S. She Loves Home in India

Believes her Country Can Learn From America

By HAL BOYLE
BOMBAY, Feb. 15.—(P)—America is the place where people used to ask Santha Rama Rau, "So you're Indian? What reservation are you from?"
Once when she wore the traditional Sari robe in an American restaurant, a woman mistook her for a crystal ball artist and said to her, "Can you tell me my fortune?"
"Other people in the United States used to ask me such silly questions as whether it rained in India and whether there were any Indians in India," sighed Miss Rama Rau, who thinks India needs "another Pearl Buck" to make Americans as interested in India as she feels they are in China.

This 23-year-old girl has made a good start herself in telling India's story with a best seller book, "My Home in India," which told of her conflicts in readjusting herself to her native country after ten years in England.
Graduated From Wellesley
She wrote the book after being graduated from Wellesley college during a four-year stay in the United States to study "The mechanics of your democracy."

Since returning to India last fall, she has lived with her parents and police dog, Pasha Kemal, in a spacious western style house in a fashionable quarter of Bombay. Her father, Sir Benegal Ram Rau, is a diplomat in the Indian civil service. Lady Rama Rau is active in Indian politics and social welfare movements.
Her name means "Spring." Santha is a tall, handsome woman with imperious black eyes and a strong will of her own. She wears an Indian Sari and it does no injustice to her willowy figure. But she likes to enjoy the freedom accorded western women. She uses American lipstick and French perfume, but eschews powder, rouge and cigarettes.

Likes United States
Although she found American ignorance of India "shocking," she liked the United States immensely and thinks her own land has much to learn from it.
"We need things like your Tennessee Valley Development," she said, "tremendous engineering developments on a grand scale with government backing. Then we will get somewhere."

The youth of India also needs "what you have in America and nowhere else I have seen—a chance for education for all, a chance to get ahead and get specialized training in any field you want," she said.

"But I wouldn't want Indian students who go to America to bring back the attitude of the American college students. In America, the students have absolutely no appreciation of their privileged position. They are bored with the very thing students in other parts of the world are fighting, yes, even dying for."

Democratic Outlook
Democratic in outlook, Miss Rama Rau wears no caste mark on her forehead, as do most Indian women, although she is Brahmin born—India's elect caste.
She is emblematic of the slow breakdown of India's age-old caste system and feels she is particularly fortunate to have been educated in two cultures, that of her own country and the western world.

"I think I learned in America what I need to do out here," she said.
"Our job—those of us so lucky as to have lived in these two cultures—it to interpret them to one another. If we can make ourselves—the Indians—real people to the Americans, we shall have done more than our politicians have been able to do. I like to feel it is worth their while to interpret America to India—the real America."

I asked Santha what she thought Bombay needed most and she quit being serious and smiled: "A good night club."

Propose 53 Navy Bases Overseas

Would Make Any Atomic Bomb Attack Difficult

By JACK BELL
WASHINGTON, Feb. 15. Congress Thursday a proposed system of 53 overseas bases from which Admiral Nimitz said, carrier-based fleets could make it "very difficult" for an enemy to attack this country with atomic bombs. Secretary Forrestal asserted that the country must be ready for "immediate advancement of our forward lines" from those bases, to head off any atomic bomb or robot missile threat.
The navy secretary led a procession of admirals before the senate naval affairs committee in support of a post-war navy of 319 active combat ships, an aerial striking force of 3,731 planes and a complement of 500,000 enlisted men and 58,000 officers.

Questioned about the prospective $5,073,000,000 cost of all this in the next year, the cabinet member conceded that national security is "expensive" but added: "I cannot help but feel that if this country, in the present state of the world, goes back to bed, we don't deserve to survive."

Forrestal and Fleet Admiral Nimitz, the chief of naval operations, stressed the need for advanced bases, of which the navy said it wants 33 in the Pacific and 20 in the Atlantic.

Struggle For Air Bases
Nimitz told the committee that future warfare "may for us resolve itself largely into a struggle for the possession of air bases—bases from which an enemy might bomb us effectively and from which we might effectively bomb an enemy."

Nimitz conceded that atomic bomb tests on ships, the first of which will be held about May 15 and the second July 1, may force revisions in naval estimates. But he said that ships are likely to present "difficult and unprofitable targets for atomic bombing because of the degree to which they are dispersed in naval tactical dispositions and the degree to which they are mobile."

"The ability of our carrier task forces to prevent penetration by hostile aircraft may make atomic bombing very difficult," he said.
But he added that the submarine might become "the most successful vehicle for carrying atomic weapons to within short distances of coastal targets and for ensuring accuracy in the use of guided missiles."

Nimitz told the committee that the 53 proposed bases represent a relatively small number for the size of the fleets contemplated. Forrestal said that is because the navy demonstrated during the war that it is "not tied to bases."
Forrestal noted that steps are being taken through the United Nations organization to outlaw the use of atomic power for military purposes. But he and Nimitz urged that this country keep its military establishment strong until the success of those efforts is demonstrated.
Nimitz expressed the opinion that it may be two years before there can be a relaxation of vigilance.
